

List of tables for 1997 to 2001 time series

1. All employed practitioners 1997–2001

Table 1: Employed medical practitioners: main occupation and sex, states and territories, 1997 to 2001

Table 2: Employed medical practitioners: main occupation, age and sex, Australia, 1997 to 2001

Table 3: Employed medical practitioners: main occupation (detailed), number and rate per 100,000 population, states and territories, 1997 to 2001

Table 4: Employed medical practitioners: main occupation by total hours per week, Australia, 1997 to 2001

2. All employed practitioners by region 1997–2001

Table 5: Employed medical practitioners: main occupation, geographic region of main job, 1997 to 2001

Table 6: Employed medical practitioners: main occupation average age by sex and geographic region of main job, 1997 to 2001

Table 7: Employed medical practitioners: main occupation, hours worked characteristics by geographic region of main job, 1997 to 2001

Table 8: Employed medical practitioners per 100,000 population: geographic region of main job, states and territories, 1997 to 2001

3. Primary care practitioners and hospital non-specialists 1997–2001

Table 9: Primary care practitioners: selected characteristics, states and territories, 1997 to 2001

Table 10: Primary care practitioners: selected characteristics, geographic region of main job, 1997 to 2001

Table 11: Vocationally registered general practitioners: selected characteristics, states and territories, 1997 to 2001

Table 12: Vocationally registered general practitioners: selected characteristics, geographic region of main job, 1997 to 2001

Table 13: Hospital non-specialists: selected characteristics, states and territories, 1997 to 2001

4. Specialists and specialists-in-training 1997–2001

Table 14: All specialists (clinician and non-clinician): selected characteristics by main specialty of practice, Australia, 1997 to 2001

Table 15: Specialists who spend most of their time as clinicians: main specialty of practice, states and territories, 1997 to 2001

Table 16: All specialists-in-training (clinician and non-clinician): selected characteristics by main specialty of training, Australia, 1997 to 2001

Table 17: All specialists-in-training (clinician and non-clinician): selected characteristics, states and territories, 1997 to 2001