Legislative definition of ‘in need of care and protection’

For a child to be placed under an order, a court needs to determine whether the child is in need of care and/or protection. Each State and Territory has legislation defining ‘in need of care and protection’.

New South Wales

In New South Wales, a child is defined under section 10, subsection (1) in the Children (Care and Protection) Act 1987 as being in need of care if:

- (a) adequate provision is not being made, or is not likely to be made, for the child’s care; or
- (b) the child is being, or is likely to be, abused; or
- (c) there is a substantial and presently irretrievable breakdown in the relationship between the child and one or more of the child’s parents.

Section 10, subsection (2) of the Act also states that a child who is residing in a non-government children’s home is in need of care if (without limiting the generality of subsection 1):

- (a) the child has been residing in the home for a period of 12 months or more; and
- (b) there has been no substantial contact during that period between the child and:
  - any of the child’s parents; or
  - any person in whose care the child was immediately before the child began residing in the home.

Section 10, subsection (3) of the Act states that a child is in need of care if (without limiting the generality of subsection 1):

- (a) the child is under the age of 6 months; and
- (b) the child is in the care of a person who is fostering the child in contravention of Section 42 (which deals with unauthorised fostering); and
- (c) it appears that the person may continue to foster the child in contravention of that section.

Victoria

In Victoria, section 63 of the Children and Young Persons Act 1989 indicates that a child is in need of protection if any of the following grounds exist:

- (a) the child has been abandoned and after reasonable inquiries the parent(s) cannot be found, and no other suitable person can be found who is willing and able to care for the child;
- (b) the child’s parent(s) are dead or incapacitated and there is no other suitable person willing and able to care for the child;
- (c) the child has suffered, or is likely to suffer, significant harm as a result of physical injury or sexual abuse, and the child’s parent(s) have not protected, or are unlikely to protect, the child from harm of that type;
- (d) the child has suffered, or is likely to suffer, emotional or psychological harm of such kind that the child’s emotional or intellectual development is, or is likely to be, significantly damaged and the child’s parent(s) have not protected, or are unlikely to protect, the child from harm of that type;

- (e) the child's physical development or health has been, or is likely to be, significantly harmed and the child's parent(s) have not provided, arranged or allowed the provision of, or are unlikely to provide, arrange, or allow the provision of, basic care or effective medical, surgical or other remedial care.

Queensland

In Queensland, sections 9 and 10 of the Child Protection Act 1999 (introduced in March 2000) define a child 'in need of protection' as a child who:

- (a) has suffered harm, is suffering harm or has an unacceptable risk of suffering harm; and
- (b) does not have a parent able and willing to protect the child from harm.

'Parent' is defined broadly to include persons 'having or exercising parental responsibility for the child' and includes a person who, under Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander tradition or custom, is regarded as a parent of the child.

'Harm' is defined as 'any detrimental effect of significant nature on the child'.

Western Australia

In Western Australia, a 'child in need of care and protection' is defined in the Child Welfare Act 1947 to include a child who:

- (a) has no sufficient means of subsistence apparent to the court and whose near relatives are, in the opinion of the court, in indigent circumstances or are otherwise unable or unwilling to support the child, or are dead, or are unknown, or cannot be found, or are out of the jurisdiction, or are in the custody of the law;
- (b) has been placed in a subsidised facility and whose near relatives have not contributed regularly towards the maintenance of the child;
- (c) associates or dwells with any person who has been convicted of vagrancy, or is known to the police as of bad repute, or who has been or is reputed to be a thief or habitually under the influence of alcohol or drugs;
- (d) is under the guardianship or in the custody of a person whom the court considers is unfit to have that guardianship or custody;
- (e) is not being maintained properly or at all by a near relative, or is deserted;
- (f) is found in a place where any drug or prohibited plant is used and is in the opinion of the court in need of care and protection by reason thereof;
- (g) being under the age of 14 years is employed or engaged in any circus, travelling show, acrobatic entertainment, or exhibition by which his life, health, welfare or safety is likely to be lost, prejudiced or endangered;
- (h) is unlawfully engaged in street trading;
- (i) is ill-treated, or suffers injuries apparently resulting from ill-treatment;
- (j) lives under conditions which indicate that the child is lapsing or likely to lapse into a career of vice or crime; or
- (k) is living under such conditions, or is found in such circumstances, or behaves in such a manner, as to indicate that the mental, physical or moral welfare of the child is likely to be in jeopardy.

South Australia

In South Australia, under the Children's Protection Act 1993, an application may be made to the Youth Court when the Minister is of the opinion that:

- (a) the child is at risk and an order should be made to secure the child's care and protection; or
- (b) disruption of existing arrangements for the child would be likely to cause the child psychological injury and it would be in the best interest of the child for the arrangement to be the subject of a care and protection order.

For the purposes of the Act, a child is at risk if:

- (a) the child has been, or is being, abused or neglected; or
- (b) a person with whom the child resides (whether a guardian of the child or not):
  - (i) has threatened to kill or injure the child and there is a reasonable likelihood of the threat being carried out; or
  - (ii) has killed, abused or neglected some other child or children and there is a reasonable likelihood of the child in question being killed, abused or neglected by that person; or
- (c) the guardians of the child:
  - (i) are unable to maintain the child, or are unable to exercise adequate supervision and control over the child; or
  - (ii) are unwilling to maintain the child, or are unwilling to exercise adequate supervision and control over the child; or
  - (iii) are dead, have abandoned the child, or cannot, after reasonable inquiry, be found; or
- (d) the child is of compulsory school age but has been persistently absent from school without satisfactory explanation of the absence; or
- (e) the child is under 15 years of age and of no fixed address.

The Children's Protection Act 1993 also covers the practice of female genital mutilation. For the purposes of the Act the following definitions of female genital mutilation are used:

Under section 26A(1) female genital mutilation means:

- (a) clitoridectomy; or
- (b) excision of any other part of the female genital organs; or
- (c) a procedure to narrow or close the vaginal opening; or
- (d) any other mutilation of the female genital organs, but does not include a sexual reassignment procedure or a medical procedure that has a genuine therapeutic purpose.

Under section 26B(1) on the protection of children at risk of genital mutilation: if the Court is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds to suspect that the child may be at risk of female genital mutilation, the Court may make orders for the protection of the child, for example, preventing a person from taking the child from the State, or requiring that the child's passport be held by the Court for a period specified in the order or until further order or providing for periodic examination of the child to ensure that the child is not subject to female genital mutilation.

Part 5 of the Children's Protection Act also states that family care meetings should be convened in respect of the child if the Minister believes that a child is at risk and that arrangements should be made to secure the child's care and protection. The Minister cannot make an application for an order granting custody of the child or placing the child under guardianship, before a family care meeting has been held unless satisfied that:

- (a) it has not been possible to hold a meeting despite reasonable endeavours to do so; or
- (b) an order should be made without delay; or
- (c) the guardians of the child consent to the making of the application; or
- (d) there is another good reason to do so.

The department will consider taking court action for a care and protection order only when no other intervention can safely protect a child who is at risk by definition of the Act. There are powers which the Youth Court may exercise when it finds that a child is in need of care and protection.

New care and protection orders tend to be no longer than 12 months, although a second or subsequent order can be granted to complete a reunification process. The child may then be placed under the guardianship of the Minister or such other person or persons the Court thinks appropriate, until 18 years of age.

Tasmania

In Tasmania, there are two Acts that are relevant to the contents of this report.

The Child Welfare Act 1960 describes various circumstances in which a child may be in need of care and protection, as a result of neglect or being beyond the care or control of the parent with whom the child is living.

A neglected child is a child:

- (a) who, having no parent or guardian, or having a parent or guardian unfit to exercise care and guardianship or not exercising proper care and guardianship, is in need of care and protection, to secure that they are properly cared for or that they are prevented from falling into bad associations or from being exposed to moral danger;
- (b) who is beyond the control of the parents or guardians with whom they are living;
- (c) who associates or lives with a person who is, or is reputed to be, an habitual thief, or a drunkard, or a prostitute or with a person who has no apparent lawful means of support;
- (d) who is found wandering without any settled place of abode, or without visible means of subsistence, or begging or receiving alms, or loitering for the purpose of so begging or receiving alms;
- (e) who is found in a brothel or a place reputed to be used as a brothel or in a place where opium or any preparation thereof is smoked;
- (f) who, being a female, solicits, importunes, or accosts any person for immoral purposes;
- (g) who, being a child who has not attained the age of 16 years in respect of whom there have been at least two convictions under section 9 of the Education Act 1932 does not, without lawful excuse, attend school regularly;
- (h) who dwells with, or in the same house as, a person suffering from venereal disease or from tuberculosis in conditions that are dangerous to their health.

Proper care and guardianship shall be deemed not to be exercised in respect of the child if they are not provided with necessary food, lodging, clothing, medical aid, or nursing, or if they are neglected, ill-treated or exposed by their parent or guardian.

Under the Child Protection Act 1974 a child may be placed under a child protection order if it appears to a magistrate that the child may have suffered abuse or that there may be a substantial risk that the child will suffer abuse. Under the Child Protection Amendment Act 1986, a magistrate who is not in a position to decide whether there may be a substantial risk that the child may suffer abuse can make a temporary child protection order. A child is taken to suffer abuse if:

- (a) whether by act or omission, intentionally or by default, any person:
  - (i) inflicts on the child a physical injury causing temporary or permanent disfigurement or serious pain; or by any means subjects the child to an impairment, either temporary or permanent, of a bodily function or of the normal reserve or flexibility of a bodily function (for example, administering drugs or alcohol); or
  - (ii) neglects, or interferes with the physical, nutritional, mental or emotional wellbeing of the child to such an extent that the child suffers, or is likely to suffer, psychological damage or impairment; or the emotional or intellectual development of the child is, or is likely to be, endangered; or the child fails to grow at a rate that would otherwise be regarded as normal for that child;
- (b) any person causes the child to engage in, or be subjected to, sexual activity; or
- (c) the child is, with or without the consent of the child or of the parent, guardian or other person having the custody, care or control of the child, engaged in, or subjected to, sexual activity that is solely or principally for the sexual gratification of any other person; or is in whole or in part the subject of, or included among the matters portrayed in, any printed matter, photograph, recording, film, video tape, exhibition, or entertainment; or is in any other manner exploited.

In Tasmania all reports to the Department made as a result of concerns about abuse and neglect, as defined by the two Acts, are received by an Intake Officer and followed up with an initial assessment as to whether it is child harm/maltreatment or a child and family concern. The resultant classification determines any action.

Australian Capital Territory

In the Australian Capital Territory the Children's Services Act 1986 states that a child is in need of care and protection if:

- (a) the child has been physically injured (other than by accident) or has been sexually abused by one of the child's parents or by a member of the household, or there is a likelihood that the child will suffer such physical injury or sexual abuse;
- (b) the child has been physically injured (other than by accident) or has been sexually abused by a person other than a parent or by a member of the household and there is a likelihood that the child will suffer such physical injury or sexual abuse and the parents are unable or unwilling to protect the child from the injury or abuse;
- (c) by reason of the circumstances in which the child is living, has lived or is reasonably likely to live, or in which the child is found, the health of the child has been, or is likely to be, impaired, or the child has suffered, or is likely to suffer, psychological damage of such a kind that their emotional or intellectual development is, or will be, endangered;
- (d) the child is engaged in behaviour that is, or is likely to be, harmful and the parents or guardians are unable or unwilling to prevent the child from engaging in that behaviour;
- (e) there is no appropriate person to care for the child because the child has been abandoned; the child's parents or guardians cannot, after reasonable enquiries have been made, be found; or the child's parents are dead and the child has no guardians;

- (f) there is serious incompatibility between the child and one of their parents or guardians; or
- (g) the child is required by law to attend school and is persistently failing to do so and the failure is, or is likely to be, harmful to the child.

The Act states that in the application of the Act an authorised person, the Community Advocate or the Court shall have regard to the degree of injury, abuse, impairment, likelihood, incompatibility or failure and shall disregard any of those things that, in the circumstances, appears to be not sufficiently serious or substantial to justify action.

Northern Territory

In the Northern Territory, section 4(2) of the Community Welfare Act 1983 states that a child is in need of care where:

- (a) the parents, guardian/person having the custody have abandoned the child and cannot, after reasonable inquiry, be found; or
- (b) the parents, guardian/person having the custody are unwilling or unable to maintain the child; or
- (c) the child has suffered maltreatment; or
- (d) the child is not subject to effective control and is engaging in conduct which constitutes a serious danger to their health or safety; or
- (e) being excused from criminal responsibility under section 38 of the Criminal Code (being under 10 years of age), the child has persistently engaged in conduct which is so harmful or potentially harmful to the general welfare of the community, measured by commonly accepted community standards, as to warrant action under this Act for the maintenance of those standards.

For the purpose of the Community Welfare Act 1983, a child shall be taken to have suffered maltreatment where they have suffered or are at substantial risk of suffering:

- (a) a physical injury causing temporary or permanent disfigurement or serious pain or impairment of a bodily function or the normal reserve or flexibility of a bodily function, inflicted or allowed to be inflicted by a parent, guardian or person having the custody of the child, or where there is substantial risk of the child suffering such an injury or impairment;
- (b) serious emotional or intellectual impairment evident by severe psychological or social malfunctioning measured by the commonly accepted standards of the community to which the child belongs, whether a result of physical surroundings, nutritional or other deprivation, or the emotional or social environment in which the child is living, or where there is a substantial risk that such surroundings, deprivation or environment will cause such emotional or intellectual impairment;
- (c) serious physical impairment evidenced by severe bodily malfunctioning, whether a result of the child's physical surroundings, nutritional or other deprivation, or the emotional or social environment in which the child is living, or where there is a substantial risk that such surroundings, deprivation or environment will cause such impairment;
- (d) sexual abuse or exploitation, and the child's parents, guardians or persons having custody of the child are unable or unwilling to protect them from such abuse or exploitation; or

- (e) female genital mutilation, where a female child shall be taken to have suffered female genital mutilation where she:
  - (i) has been subjected, or there is substantial risk that she will be subjected, to female genital mutilation, as defined in section 186A of the Criminal Code; or
  - (ii) has been taken, or there is substantial risk that she will be taken, from the Territory with the intention of having female genital mutilation performed on her.
