Notes

1. Number excluded due to errors and omissions (daily average): 0 Demand for Accommodation Collection; 39.8 Client Collection.
2. Table excludes Victorian data.
3. Only data from agencies that participated in both the Client Collection and the Demand for Accommodation Collection are included. Consequently, the figures understate the level of activity in government-funded specialist homelessness agencies.
4. Demand for Accommodation data exclude people who requested accommodation for periods after 24 hours.
5. The accommodation status of a client or accompanying child on a particular day is based on the reported periods of accommodation within a support period. A client can end one period of accommodation and start another on the same day at the same agency—these are considered to be a single period. It can be reasonably assumed that a client will not have more than one period of accommodation at different agencies on the same day. Note that dates of support and accommodation are not collected for accompanying children; however, it can be reasonably assumed that an accompanying child is accommodated when their parent or guardian has been accommodated.

Notes

1. Number excluded due to errors and omissions (daily average): 0 Demand for Accommodation Collection; 47.3 Client Collection in 2006–07, 46.3 in 2007–08, 39.0 in 2008–09, 52.6 in 2009–10; 71.1 in 2010–11.
2. Only data from agencies that participated in both the Client Collection and the Demand for Accommodation Collection are included. Consequently, the figures understate the level of activity in government-funded specialist homelessness agencies.
3. Demand for Accommodation data exclude people who requested accommodation for periods after 24 hours.
4. The accommodation status of a client or accompanying child on a particular day is based on the reported periods of accommodation within a support period. A client can end one period of accommodation and start another on the same day at the same agency—these are considered to be a single period. It can be reasonably assumed that a client will not have more than one period of accommodation at different agencies on the same day. Note that dates of support and accommodation are not collected for accompanying children; however, it can be reasonably assumed that an accompanying child is accommodated when their parent or guardian has been accommodated.
5. Caution should be exercised when comparing data across years. See Appendix 2 and Chapter 2 in the main report.
6. Figures are unweighted.

Appendix 2 Demand for Accommodation Collection

The Demand for Accommodation Collection is one of the components that form the SAAP National Data Collection (SAAP NDC). Box A2.1 outlines the components of the SAAP NDC. The Demand for Accommodation Collection is primarily used to calculate the percentage of people turned away from government-funded specialist homelessness accommodation and to provide an indication of the overall ability of agencies to meet the demand for such accommodation.

Box A2.1: The SAAP National Data Collection

The SAAP National Data Collection (NDC) consists of distinct components, each of which can be thought of as a separate collection. In 2010–11, three collections were run:

- The Demand for Accommodation Collection—measures the level of turn-away from specialist homelessness accommodation by collecting information about the number of met and unmet requests for accommodation. It is conducted annually over 2 separate weeks.

In 2010–11 the collection was held on 17–23 November 2010 and on 4–10 May 2011.

All participating agencies that provide support or accommodation were asked to record each unsuccessful and successful request for accommodation made during the collection period. Data are recorded in terms of requests. A request may include more than one person and a person may make more than one request in a day.

See also Appendix 4.

- The Client Collection—collects information about clients and their accompanying children. Data are recorded by service providers (agencies) during, or immediately following, contact with clients and are then returned after support has ended or, for ongoing clients, at the end of the reporting period (30 June). Data collected include information on: demographics, such as age, sex and country of birth for clients and accompanying children; the types of support required by, and provided to, each client and accompanying child; and the client’s situation before and after receiving support. Some data items require consent from the client to collect (see Appendix 4). Data are collected in relation to support periods. A support period is a discrete period of time over which a person receives ongoing support from a government-funded specialist homelessness agency. A person may have one or more periods of support within a year. To calculate the number of people associated with these periods of support, a statistical linkage key (SLK) is created for each person receiving support where consent was provided to record this information. The Client Collection is described in more detail in the appendixes to Government-funded specialist homelessness services: SAAP NDC annual report 2010–11 (AIHW 2011b).
- The Administrative Data Collection—consists of general information about the agencies providing accommodation and support to people who are homeless or at risk of homelessness. Details about these agencies are submitted by the departments that administer the government response to homelessness in each state and territory. The information provided includes the client target group of each agency, whether the agency is required to participate in data collection and details of funding.

The 60% of agencies that participated in the two collections used to calculate the turn-away measures in this report – the Client and Demand for Accommodation collections – are used for analysis throughout this report (tables A1 and A2; excludes Victorian data). These agencies accounted for 94% (8,104) of the total 8,619 Demand for Accommodation Collection records and 98% (141,229) of the total 144,079 Client Collection records. Consequently, it is possible that findings may understate the true extent of unmet demand. Readers should note that several factors need to be taken into account when comparing estimates across years, such as agency participation in each year and any changes in the collection or estimation methodology. For example, the SAAP V Agreement was replaced by the NAHA midway through 2008–09 resulting in potential changes to the agencies participating in the collection; and in 2008–09, 2009–10 and 2010–11 Victorian data was excluded from analysis.

Estimation methods

People may be turned away from an agency for a variety of reasons, not all of which indicate that accommodation was unavailable. This includes requests for accommodation at agencies where the person did not fall within the agency’s target group, where the person or group was inappropriate for the agency or where there was no fee-free accommodation available. It also includes those people who refused an agency’s offer of accommodation. Consequently, the number of valid unmet requests is a more useful measure of unmet demand than all unmet requests (see Appendix 4).

The number of valid unmet requests does not represent the actual number of people, since a person can make requests on more than one occasion and at more than one agency. Thus, there are two types of estimates of primary interest for unmet demand: the number of valid unmet requests and the number of people who made a valid unmet request. However, an unmet request for accommodation may be followed by a successful request at another agency, especially if a referral has been arranged. That is, a proportion of people who make an unsuccessful request for accommodation might subsequently receive accommodation from another agency later on the same day. For this reason, when estimating how many people were turned away it is essential to distinguish between people who made a valid unmet request for accommodation but could not be accommodated at all and those who eventually found accommodation by the end of each day.

Several difficulties are associated with estimating the number of valid unmet requests and the number of people who make those requests. First, a proportion of people who make an unsuccessful request for accommodation may subsequently receive accommodation from another agency, quite possibly soon after the initial request. A statistical linkage key is not collected in the Demand for Accommodation Collection, so it is difficult to identify when this situation occurs. Second, people may have their needs met by other means and no longer require assistance. Third, a person may make several requests for accommodation – again, without a linkage key, related requests cannot be identified with certainty. Finally, data required to identify valid unmet requests may be missing. These possibilities pose four main problems:

- estimates of the number of unmet requests obtained from the collection may overstate the actual level of unmet demand
- estimates of the number of valid unmet requests may be too low as a result of missing data

- the number of people making valid unmet requests cannot be obtained directly from the collection
- an accurate final turn-away for those seeking accommodation cannot be calculated.

Although it is not currently possible to resolve the first of these problems, a method has been developed for deriving estimates of the number of valid unmet requests, the number of individuals whose valid requests were not met, and the number of people turned away each day of the collection period. The method used to derive these estimates is outlined in the following section. It should be noted, however, that the resulting estimates would overstate the number of people involved if people make requests for accommodation on different approaches to agencies within the collection period. Additionally, because people might make several approaches on the same day to agencies throughout the year, the daily figure cannot be pro-rated up to give an estimate of the number of people turned away from agencies annually.

Deriving key estimates

There are several key estimates required for estimating both unmet and met demand. These are:

- the number of valid unmet requests for immediate accommodation
- the number of people with a valid unmet request for immediate accommodation
- the number of people with a valid unmet request for immediate accommodation with a subsequent met request for accommodation.

These estimates are crucial because they show the volume of requests for immediate accommodation, indicate the number of people with unmet requests within the collection period and how much of that demand is later met, and are used in conjunction with data from other collections to examine total demand. Missing data in items used to derive these estimates will therefore affect the estimates' utility because they lead to estimates being too low.

In this report, imputed and edited data are included in all tables that use information from the Demand for Accommodation Collection.

Unmet demand

The information used to derive the unmet demand estimates is elicited through seven questions on the Demand for Accommodation Collection form (see Appendix 6):

- Question 2, asking the number of adults or unaccompanied children seeking accommodation
- Question 3, asking the number of accompanying children requiring accommodation with their parent(s) or guardian(s)
- Question 4, asking about the immediacy of the need for accommodation
- Question 5a and Question 5b, asking whether or not the same request for accommodation had been made and turned away earlier that day and the reason for that turn-away, if applicable
- Question 6, asking whether an offer of accommodation was made by the agency
- Question 7a and Question 7b, asking if the person refused an offer of accommodation and, if so, why
- Question 9, asking if the person made a valid request – that is, sought support from an appropriate agency.

Missing information for any of these questions affects estimates of valid unmet requests and/or estimates of people making those requests. To maximise the utility of estimates from the Demand for Accommodation Collection, an answer was imputed where information was missing for questions 4, 5a, 5b, 6, 7a, 7b and 9. The imputation itself was done at the form level by randomly assigning an answer for the missing question using the distribution of answers for that question. To improve accuracy, this imputation also used information from related questions.

Some editing on questions 2 and 3 was undertaken to help minimise the effects of erroneous or missing responses to these questions. For example, editing was carried out based on the presenting unit and where accompanying children were erroneously recorded in both questions 2 and 3.

An estimate of the total number of valid unmet requests can then be derived by identifying records that correspond to valid unmet requests. This is done using both the original and the imputed answers: initially, valid requests are identified using questions 7 and 9, and any requests in which an offer of assistance was refused or where the reason for the agency refusing indicates that it was an invalid request are excluded. Question 4 can then be used to divide these valid unmet requests into requests for immediate accommodation and other requests.

The number of people associated with valid unmet requests for accommodation is identified by finding those valid unmet requests that correspond to first valid unmet requests. This can partly be done by excluding repeat requests at agencies (identified through Question 5) from identified valid unmet requests (estimated as described). However, in addition to this, to estimate the number of people with a valid unmet request for accommodation one further piece of information is needed – whether a first (invalid) request at an inappropriate agency later becomes an unmet (valid) request at an appropriate agency. The number of first invalid unmet requests that later became valid unmet requests is estimated using information gathered questions 5a and 5b on the form.

Met demand

Met requests for accommodation are used to estimate the number of people who successfully gained accommodation after making an earlier unmet request. This information is elicited through questions 5a, 5b, 6, 7a and 8 on the 2008–09 Demand for Accommodation Collection form (see Appendix 6), which determine if the request is met, ask how many people were accommodated, whether the person or group had made a request for accommodation earlier that day and, if they were unsuccessful, the reason why. The turn-away measures in this report relate only to those who required immediate accommodation. This information is elicited through Question 4 on the form.

The imputation for questions 4, 5a, 5b, 6 and 7a was done at the form level by randomly assigning an answer for the missing question using the distribution of answers for that question. To improve accuracy, this imputation also used information from related questions (see also previous section on unmet demand). Some editing was carried out on Question 8 based on the presenting unit.

For the purposes of this report, only people with a met request who had a valid unmet request earlier in the day are considered as people who were accommodated in subsequent requests. Whether the previous request was valid is determined on the basis of the response recorded against Question 5b on the form. Invalid requests include those made for accommodation where the person did not fall within the agency's target group, where the person or group was inappropriate for the agency and where the person or group refused the offer of accommodation due to not wanting to split, because the agency was in the wrong area or where they refused accommodation for other reasons. The number of people who were accommodated in subsequent requests is subtracted from the number of people who had a first valid unmet request for accommodation to estimate the number of people who were not accommodated daily.

Data issues around estimating the number of people turned away

It must be noted that there are some data issues that should be considered when analysing the estimated turn-away measures presented in this report:

- it is possible to estimate the number of people turned away only for those who required immediate accommodation, that is, accommodation required within 24 hours. This means that the measures might underestimate the turn-away for groups who are more likely to request accommodation after 24 hours
- dates of support and accommodation are not collected for accompanying children in the Client Collection. For the purposes of calculating the turn-away measures, accompanying children are assumed to have the same periods of accommodation as the parent or guardian. Note that accompanying children are recorded on only one parent's or guardian's record when clients present as a couple.

This report present the measures of turn-away by requesting group or by jurisdiction, but do not present turn-away by age, sex, country of birth or Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander status. This is because:

- on occasion, only part of a group requesting accommodation was able to be accommodated. While the Demand for Accommodation Collection collects demographic information – such as age, sex, country of birth and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander status – on the group making the request for accommodation, it does not break down by demographics the number of people who were accommodated out of that group. Only the total number accommodated is collected. For example, if a group of male and female friends make a request but only some of that group are able to be accommodated, the collection cannot distinguish how many of the males or how many of the females in the group were accommodated. Analysis suggests that the accommodation of a partial group is not common. However, the issue is significant enough to prevent calculation of valid estimates of turn-away by demographics
- age, country of birth and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander status are collected only for clients who provided informed consent in the Client Collection but are collected for all people who request accommodation in the Demand for Accommodation Collection.

Matching requesting groups

The Demand for Accommodation Collection form collected information on the requesting group in a different format from that used in the Client Collection (see Appendix 6). The following table outlines the combinations used in this report.

Name of requesting group	Client Collection requesting groups	Demand for Accommodation Collection requesting groups
Individual(s) no children	Person alone or with unrelated person	Person without child(ren)
	Other, with no record of accompanying children in Part B of the form (see Appendix 6)	Persons without child(ren)
	Requesting group missing, with no record of accompanying children in Part B of the form (see Appendix 6)	Requesting group missing, with no record of accompanying children in Question 3 or Question 8 of the form (see Appendix 6)
Individual(s) with children	Person with child(ren)	Person with child(ren)
	Other, with record of accompanying children in Part B of the form (see Appendix 6)	Persons with child(ren)
	Requesting group missing, with record of accompanying children in Part B of the form (see Appendix 6)	Requesting group missing, with record of accompanying children in Question 3 or Question 8 of the form (see Appendix 6)
Couple no children	Couple without child(ren)	Couple without child(ren)
Couple with children	Couple with child(ren)	Couple with child(ren)

Appendix 3 Summary diagram

Figure A3.1 on the following page provides a summary of the 2010–11 data. It outlines how requests for accommodation made during the Demand for Accommodation Collection were used in conjunction with data collected in the Client Collection to determine how many people were turned away on an average day.

Notes

- 1. Excludes Victorian data (see AIHW 2011a:Box 1.2).
- 2. Only data from agencies that participated in both the Client Collection and the Demand for Accommodation Collection are included. Consequently, the figures understate the level of activity in government-funded specialist homelessness agencies.
- 3. Figures may not add because of rounding.

Appendix 4 Counting rules and glossary

Accurate interpretation of the analyses presented in this report requires an understanding of the concepts and terms used in the SAAP NDC.

In this report, the following rules and definitions have been used. For detailed descriptions of categories and other terms used in this report, please refer to the collectors manual (AIHW 2005).

Accommodated client	A client is considered to be accommodated during a support period if the support type of 'SAAP/CAP accommodation' (specialist homelessness accommodation) was provided and/or a date of accommodation was provided.
Accommodation period	The period during which a client was in specialist homelessness accommodation (also referred to as a period of accommodation). A client may have no accommodation periods or one or more accommodation periods within a support period. The dates on which each accommodation period began and ended during the support period are collected for clients, but not for accompanying children. It can, however, be reasonably assumed that an accompanying child will have the same accommodation period start and end dates as their parent(s) or guardian(s) in the majority of cases.
Accompanying child	A person aged under 18 years who: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• has a parent or guardian who is a client; and• accompanies that client to an agency any time during that client's support period; and/or• receives assistance directly as a consequence of a parent's or guardian's support period.
Accompanying child support period	Each support period in which the child either accompanies a parent or guardian to an agency or receives assistance as a result of a parent's or guardian's support period. Within an accompanying child support period the child may receive one-off assistance and/or support over a period of time. Since the child may not be supported for the entire duration of a parent's or guardian's support period, it is not possible to assess the exact length of support for an accompanying child. However, it can be reasonably assumed that an accompanying child will have the same support period start and end dates as their parent(s) or guardian(s) in the majority of cases. The number of accompanying child support periods is calculated by summing the number of accompanying children reported for each support period.

Agency	An organisation or establishment that receives a specified amount of NAHA/ national partnership funds to provide specialist homelessness services to people experiencing or at risk of homelessness. Agencies may also receive funding from other sources. Agency inclusion is determined by the state and territory departments responsible for administering the government response to homelessness. Not all funded agencies are required to participate in data collection (see participating agency).
Alpha code	A predetermined combination of letters from a client's or accompanying child's name, together with a letter designating their sex. See also valid alpha code and statistical linkage key.
At imminent risk of homelessness	Includes people who are at risk of losing their housing because of factors that do not pose a threat to their safety, for example interpersonal conflicts that do not involve violence. A person who requires the support of an agency worker to maintain their current housing situation and live independently in the community may also be considered to be at risk of becoming homeless.
Client	A person who is homeless or at imminent risk of homelessness who: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • is accommodated by an agency; or • enters into an ongoing support relationship with an agency; or • receives support or assistance from an agency which entails generally 1 hour or more of a worker's time, either with that client directly or on behalf of that client, on a given day. This includes people who are aged 18 years or older and people of any age not accompanied by a parent or guardian.
Closed accompanying child support periods	An accompanying child support period associated with a closed support period.
Closed support period	A support period that had finished on or before the end of the reporting period, 30 June.
Country of birth	The country in which a person was born. Countries are divided into: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Australia • other English-speaking countries (Canada, Ireland, New Zealand, South Africa, the United Kingdom, the United States of America and Zimbabwe) • mainly non-English-speaking countries.

Family group	Refers to the following requesting or client groups: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • individual(s) with children • couple no children • couple with children. See 'Matching requesting groups' in Appendix 2 for details of how these groups are formed.
Homeless person	A person who does not have access to safe, secure and adequate housing. A person is considered not to have access to safe, secure and adequate housing if the only housing to which they have access: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • damages, or is likely to damage, their health; or • threatens their safety; or • marginalises them through failing to provide access to <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - adequate personal amenities, or - the economic and social supports that a home normally affords; or • places them in circumstances which threaten or adversely affect the adequacy, safety, security and affordability of that housing; or • has no security of tenure – that is, they have no legal right to continued occupation of their home. A person is also considered homeless if he or she is living in accommodation provided by an agency or some other form of emergency accommodation.
Immediate accommodation	Accommodation required/needed within 24 hours.
Invalid unmet request for accommodation	An unmet request for accommodation is invalid if: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the request is made at an agency of an inappropriate target group • the person or group is inappropriate for the agency • there is no fee-free accommodation available at the agency • the proffered assistance is refused.
Informed consent	For the purposes of the SAAP NDC, informed consent is a statement by the client that he or she agrees to have personal information recorded and sent to the AIHW for analysis. The protocols of the collection state that the client must be given appropriate information about why the information is being recorded and what the information will be used for.

Length of accommodation	Accommodation length is obtained by summing the individual accommodation period lengths reported for a support period. An individual accommodation length is obtained by subtracting the accommodation start date from the accommodation finish date for those periods with valid dates. If a client starts and ends accommodation on the same date, the length of accommodation is recorded as zero. A support period with accommodation may begin before the start of the financial year. For this report, length of accommodation is the total length of accommodation within a support period, not the length of accommodation within the financial year.
Mean	For non-funding support periods or client-level items, the mean value of an item is the weighted arithmetic average of the item using relevant records with valid values. For funding items, the mean is the total funding as reported, divided by the relevant number of units. For funding per support period or per client, weighted estimates of support periods or clients are used in this division.
Median	The median is the fiftieth percentile of a distribution. This is the value of an item such that half (using weights) of relevant records with valid values are below this value and half are above it.
Met request for accommodation	A request for accommodation is met if the agency offers supported accommodation to the person or group requesting accommodation and that offer is accepted. All met requests for accommodation are considered to be valid as the accommodation could be provided.
Missing values	Records that are not available for analysis are shown in table notes. The number of such records for each table is calculated in the following order of precedence: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • records not available because of errors • records not available because of omissions. In tables involving subpopulations, it is impossible to determine whether a given record should be included or excluded if data are missing for the variable(s) defining the subpopulation in the analysis. Such records are generally not included in the missing count for these tables.

Participating agency/ participation rate	The participation status of an agency is determined by their status in the Administrative Data Collection as well as by their participation in the SAAP NDC during the reference period. The Administrative Data Collection contains information on all funded agencies. These agencies fall into one of two categories: non-participating agencies and participating agencies. Non-participating agencies are funded but are not required to participate in data collection. They are excluded from the calculation of the participation rate but are included in tables relating to agency funding. Participating agencies are those that are required to return data for the reference period. With some exceptions, these form the basis for the calculation of the participation rate. Participating agencies are not considered 'in scope' for the reference period if they were not able to participate in the collection for that year. For example, the Administrative Data Collection indicated that they were closed for the entire reference period and they did not return any data.
Percentages	Percentages presented in the report are based on valid values only; that is, records without values for the relevant data item are excluded from the denominator before percentages are calculated.
Primary target group	Refers to the primary target group of the agency, that is, the primary characteristics of persons to whom a service is targeted. There are six classifications used by the SAAP NDC. These are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • young people • single men only • single women only • families • women and children escaping domestic violence • cross-target/multiple/general.
Referral	For the purposes of the SAAP NDC, a referral involves a formal process, not simply the provision of information. A (formal) referral occurs when an agency contacts another organisation and that organisation accepts the person concerned for an appointment or interview. A referral has not been provided if the person is not accepted for an appointment or interview.
Requesting group	See 'Matching requesting groups' in Appendix 2 for details of how these groups are formed.

Rounding	Daily average estimates are generally rounded to one decimal place. Annual estimates derived from the Client Collection are generally rounded to the nearest 100.
Statistical linkage key	A statistical linkage key is a derived variable that allows demographic data about the same client to be combined across support periods without the name of the client being recorded. See also Valid statistical linkage key.
Support period	Commences when a client begins to receive support and/or supported accommodation from an agency. The support period is considered to finish when: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the client ends the relationship with the agency; or • the agency ends the relationship with the client. If it is not clear whether the agency or the client has ended the relationship, the support period is assumed to have ended if no assistance has been provided to the client for a period of 1 month. In such a case, the date the support period ended is the last contact with the client. Support periods from operational agencies are included in the analyses presented in this report if: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the client’s support period ended in the reporting period; or • the client’s support period started on or before the end of the reporting period and either was ongoing at the end of the reporting period (30 June) or the end date of the support period was unknown and the record was entered by the AIHW before the data entry close-off date for the reporting period.
Support period with accommodation	A support period in which a support type of ‘SAAP/CAP accommodation’ was provided and/or a date of ‘SAAP/CAP accommodation’ was provided.
Total demand for accommodation	The total demand for accommodation refers to accommodation requested from an agency, whether that request was met or not. It includes accommodation that was newly starting and accommodation that was continuing from a previous day, as well as unmet requests for accommodation.
Turn-away—percentage of people requiring new and immediate accommodation	Calculated as the daily average percentage of people who were turned away relative to all people who required new and immediate accommodation. It provides an indication of a person’s likelihood of obtaining government-funded specialist homelessness accommodation.

Turn-away—percentage of total demand for immediate accommodation	Calculated as the daily average percentage of people who were turned away relative to all people who required new and immediate accommodation plus those who were continuing their accommodation from a previous day. It provides a measure of the overall ability of government-funded specialist homelessness agencies to meet the expressed demand for their accommodation.
Unmet need	Used in the SAAP NDC Client Collection. An unmet need occurs when an agency worker assesses that a client needs a support service during their support period, and that service is not provided or formally referred on.
Valid alpha code	This is an alpha code that is given with informed consent, and contains only letters from the alphabet or the numeral '2' (to indicate a short name) and ends in either M or F to indicate the sex.
Valid consent	Refers to a valid statistical linkage key.
Valid date of birth	For the purposes of the NDC, a valid date of birth is one which is provided with informed consent; and has the day and month of birth completed and not estimated; and the year of birth completed either estimated or not estimated.
Valid statistical linkage key	Statistical linkage keys are used to join records for the same person without identifying that person. For the purposes of the NDC, a valid statistical linkage key comprises a valid alpha code and valid date of birth.
Valid unmet request for accommodation	An unmet request for accommodation is valid if the agency cannot offer accommodation because: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • insufficient accommodation is available • the agency is a referred agency with no vacancies on the books • the type of accommodation requested is not provided by the agency • there are insufficient staff to provide support • facilities for special needs are not available • other reasons not elsewhere specified.

RETURNING FORMS TO THE NDCA

- In the first week of each month, send the forms of clients who have left the agency in the last month to the NDCA in the prepaid envelope provided.
- Forms should reach the NDCA by the 15th of each month.
- Include a completed Form Return Sheet with your forms. If no clients left your agency in the last month record zero forms to return on the Form Return Sheet. This ensures that your agency is counted as participating in the National Data Collection. The NDCA is required to notify State/Territory funding departments of agencies that do not return forms (or Form Return Sheets) each month.

30 JUNE 2010 AND 31 DECEMBER 2010

- In the first week of July 2010 and in the first week of January 2011, you should notify the NDCA of clients who are still being supported as at 30 June 2010 and 31 December 2010.
- For clients who are ongoing at 30 June 2010, transfer the information from the old 2009–2010 form to the new 2010–2011 form. Return the old form to the NDCA along with the forms of clients who have left your agency in the last month. Retain the new form in your agency until the client has finished his/her support period.
- For ongoing clients at 31 December—use the December Form Return Sheet and note in the box provided the number of clients being supported on 31 December 2010. It is important to send in a December Form Return Sheet even if you did not have any client forms to remit or you had no ongoing clients.

If you do not need the materials sent to you, please return them in the NDCA Reply Paid envelope.
